European traditions, primarily Russian, French, and Danish influences, imported through immigrant dancers, choreographers, and companies in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Incorporating innovative choreography that challenged traditional notions of beauty and technique. The 1930s and 1940s marked a pivotal era where choreographers like Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, and Charles Weidman pioneered modern dance, which, although distinct from ballet, profoundly influenced the evolution of American ballet's modernist tendencies.

Merce Cunningham revolutionized movement and presentation, emphasizing randomness, chance, and technology, pushing ballet beyond traditional storytelling into a realm of pure form and movement experimentation.
